

Dr. Walker,

10/31/16

Just in case you didn't know, you are amazing!! That is to say.. cool, calm and collected, and oh yes... smart!

Earlier this month you took charge while presiding over the care of my husband, Jay Elliott. (Dx: Septic Shock due to prostate biopsy). It was a touch and go night!

As a nurse myself, I have seen many doctors over the years bark out orders and get upset with staff and show indifference toward a situation. You, however are far from this mold. I was impressed by your true interest, care, and manner in which you treated all the CRITICAL CARE STAFF as you were figuring out what to do next in my husband's care. Your leadership impressive as everything fell into place. "The skies opened up" and the light shone upon my husband as he came off the BiPAP, as he was about to be intubated. His mind also became somewhat clearer.

The next morning he went off to surgery with Dr Bieri to remedy the issue that caused the whole problem.

Three weeks later, abcess and all signs of infection gone! With continued assistance of Dr Banda, Dr Graor and all the MVRMC staff, he is up and about, stronger and has a goal of soon enjoying the beaches of Cancun, Mexico, margarita in hand.

We will toast to you and the Critical Care Staff with gusto, SALUD!

We sincerely thank you,

Deana and Jay Elliott
